

JDCHR Round Tassie Tour - Easter 2009

Day 6 Tuesday 7th April

Strahan—West Coast Wilderness Railway

Overcast morning and going on the train ride from Strahan to Queenstown. The train departed at 10.15am and we went through a rainforest and followed the King River. About half way we were supplied our lunch and had a break before heading off on different train with a centre cog wheel to pull it up the steep climbs and arrived Queenstown around 2.15pm.

This was a great trip and the commentary was superb as the guy explained things to see on the way up. We bussed it back to Strahan.

The Pointings opted for a cruise instead of the train ride and they enjoyed their day as well.

Graeme was having a tyre problem and got it checked out at a garage and they found a screw in it. (No guesses where it came from except the garage floor at home I suspect. He needs to keep the floor clean at all times).

Peter and Leyland also went to the same garage for an exhaust weld which Leyland was only too happy to assist.
